t's kind of fun to do the impossible. –Walt Disney

Walt Disney was a dreamer. It's because of his strong interest in art and his powerful imagination that we are blessed with cartoons today like "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "Pinocchio." It's because of people like Walt Disney, who never stop dreaming and never stop doing what they believe in, that we are where we are today. Another dreamer was Laurent Clerc, who dreamed of deaf schools, of deaf children being educated. Today that dream is a reality. That dream started becoming real when Clerc met Alice Cogswell for the very first time. Everyone thought Clerc's dream was just that—a dream. Well, everyone except for Clerc himself. Everyone thought it was impossible for deaf children to be educated, much less be educated by deaf people at that. And where are we today? That dream Clerc had, that little dream which was deemed impossible by so many people…is a reality. All you have to do is look at this yearbook—it's a testament to Laurent Clerc's dream. This yearbook showcases what many people over hundreds of years have worked for—the education of deaf children. The countless smiling faces of the children you will find throughout the yearbook all serve as living reminders of how dreams can become a reality. Because, as Walt Disney and Laurent Clerc can tell you…it's kind of fun to do the impossible.

Dedication

The 2005 Cornerstone is honored to dedicate this yearbook to an individual who has been both a student and an employee at the Maryland School for the Deaf. As a young five-year-old, she was officially enrolled at the Frederick Campus in 1961. She remained a student at MSD until her graduation. Throughout her school career, this student was considered to be outstanding. Well-respected by the students and the staff, she was a student leader in many organizations. In sports, she participated in basketball, cheerleading, track, and gymnastics. She was the recipient of numerous awards. In addition, she was the Salutatorian for the Class of 1975.

As an MSD employee, this woman has worked in a variety of positions. While earning her Bachelor of Arts degree from Gallaudet College, she worked as a life guard at the Frederick campus pool. In 1982, she was hired as a teacher-aide. During the early years of her career, she lived on campus with her husband, Tim, who is also an MSD employee, and her two sons, Lance and Christopher. In 1984 she was hired as a substitute teacher. Since that time she has worked as a clerical assistant, a substitute student life counselor, and currently as the Student Data Base Manager. She received her Master of Arts degree in Secondary Deaf Education from Gallaudet University in 2000.

Many people will say that this individual has "Orange and Black" blood. She is always ready to lend a hand to organize homecoming activities, sew costumes for the drama department, videotape commencement exercises, and plan alumni events. When asked to help someone, her response is always "sure". The heart that she has for MSD is readily seen. She can be found on campus during the day, during evening hours, and often on weekends. She is a two time recipient of the Reverend Louis W. Foxwell Memorial Award for exceptional service to the Deaf. Friendly, hard working, conscientious, kind, fun-loving and dedicated are a few words that can be used to describe her. The 2005 Cornerstone is proudly dedicated to one of MSD's finest Orioles, Ms. Donna Lee Vogeler.

We love you!!!!

Dr. Ruth F. Howell

A proud native of Bel Air, Maryland, Dr. Ruth Howell comes from a family tree that connected her to the Maryland School for the Deaf long before she became a teacher of the deaf. Dr. Howell first came into contact with deafness thanks to her deaf aunt and cousin, who both graduated from MSD-Frederick. She grew up with a strong interest in the deaf world, and then upon graduation from Western Maryland College (now McDaniel College) was hired by MSD in 1972. She first taught in the Parent Pre-School Program (now known as Family Education/Early Intervention). While she was working full time, she received her doctorate from the University of Maryland. Fourteen years later in 1986, she became the director of Family Education. Dr. Howell works for MSD tirelessly in many ways. She represents MSD on several important state-wide committees. Nationally, she has also been secretary of the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf and is a representative to the Council of Organizational Representatives. She is a highly skilled interpreter and has full RID (Registry of Interpreters of the Deaf) certification. Dr. Howell lives in Frederick, but has offices at both the Frederick and Columbia campuses. Dr. Howell often drives all over Maryland every week making home visits and attending meetings, in addition to traveling between campuses. Her job is extremely demanding, but she takes it in stride and never complains-she always has the goal of providing the best programs possible for parents and children. Words that have been used to describe Dr. Howell are: dedicated, hard-working, well-liked, energetic, smart, caring, nurturing, devoted, and inquisitive. MSD is a better place thanks to Dr. Howell, and words cannot express the gratitude that the MSD community has for Ruth.

Q: What is your favorite memory of your teenage years?

Larry Newman: While I was driving with my two friends, we were fooling around with firecrackers. One of them threw a firecracker under my feet. I was stunned, but I held the steering wheel tightly. Looking back, I don't recommend you doing that!

Q: When you were little, what did you want to be when you grew up?

Winnie Pryor: I wanted to be a singer (in a band).

Q: What is your pet peeve?

Jane Redding: I hate it when students lie to me shudders

Q: What was your most mischievous deed in high school?

Julius Vold: In High School, I had this teacher I didn't like who would always sit on the windowstill. So one day I decided to put a tack on the windowstill hoping he would sit on it. But he didn't that day. I didn't give up--every day after that, I kept putting the tack in different places, hoping he would sit on it, but he never did. grunts in frustration

Rita Corey: A very shy and quiet girl, yet mischievous at times. I once took my mom's scissors and chopped off all of my hair thinking I could put it back on easily.

Q: Do you think MSD students should wear uniforms? Why or why not?

Suzanne Gamble: No. Clothes does not seem to be a big problem on this campus. I think our students need to express their individuality within socially acceptable standards of dress.

For the first time with Student Directors!

"The first day I heard I had gotten the job, I ran down the hall to inform people that I was going to direct Cyrano. Adults looked at me very strange, and nearly all of their words were the same: 'I think you're crazy!' - 'Cyrano is impossible!'... Now, I'm proud to say that we have achieved the impossible. It is, after all, kind of fun to do the IMPOSSIBLE." - Leah

Andre and Davon are enjoying dorm life!

Don't we look handsome?

What are you looking at?!

We have to practice our dancing for the party!

What's up, Dawg?

What?! What's going on?! What is she laughing at?!

Jeez! I don't know what I want to eat.

Focus, boys!
Lunch? This is the dorm!
Ashley's checking herself out in the mirror!
Awww.. puppy love!
I can't live without my teddy bear.
Come on, ball, jump!
I just want to sleep now!

Dear Members of the Graduating Class of 2005,

You all have reached a milestone in American Culture: High School Graduation! You are ready to take the next step as you move on to colleges and universities, to training programs, or to the world of work.

President George W. Bush in his second term will continue to lead our country and the "free world" in our war against terrorism. Our troops are still in Iraq and Afghanistan and many parts of the world fighting an enemy that is elusive and without country borders. North Korea has announced ambitions in building a full-fledged nuclear weapons program. Old alliances between countries are dissolving into new alliances.

Challenging domestic issues such as Social Security reform, affordable health care, No Child Left Behind (NCLB) Act, and rising energy costs continue to dominate our national debate. Each one of us needs to be informed and if possible involved with local, national, and global issues. Each one of us must be a registered voter, and vote in every local and national election.

Our world is constantly changing and changing… What you have learned yesterday and today may not be applicable for tomorrow. Each one of us should always be prepared to learn new ideas, concepts, and skills. We all must be life-long learners!

Members of the MSD Community are honored to be part of your "MSD Education" and we wish you the best of luck in your future endeavors. You are always welcome to visit us and share "world experiences" with our younger students!

Best wishes,

James E. Tucker

Seniors

Today as we reminisce, we look back in wonder. We think about how young we were, how naive we were. We remember our first days at MSD. We remember how fun elementary school was, how we would savor every moment spent in gym class playing dodgeball, putting all our energy in throwing that one ball across the seemingly huge gym. We remember every milestone as we got older—our first best friend, our first fight, our first kiss, our first accomplishment, our first failure. But one thing has remained through all those years, those turbulent years during which we grew up—one thing remained the same: MSD.

Then &

& Now

Graduation is the final step on a journey that many of us started here at MSD—it is the cherry on the top, the icing on the cake, the very thing that has confirmed just how far we have come. Graduation is the realization of a long journey completed. When we finally entered High School, the very last leg of our journey through MSD, graduation came into sight—and it quickly became a reality as the days went b One thing is sure, though—the fact that graduation doesn mean the end of the Class of 2005. Years later, we will look back at this yearbook and chuckle as we remember the memories we made here at MSD. This yearbook is not the only way of remembering the Class of 2005—we will always carry the memories of our time at MSD with us, as you all will. Never forget us.

Jenny,
When you were a baby, I found a plaque that had a picture of Jesus holding a baby and it said: "Jesus gave you the best he had" I can't begin to tell you how much I believe that. I am so proud of you. You have grown into an amazing young woman right before my eyes. You are beautiful, intelligent and a wonderful person all wrapped up in one. Always remember "success is a journey not a destination" so continue to reach for the stars and go after your dreams because there are no limits on your ability. Thank you for being the most amazing aspect of my life. I will love you forever with all my heart!

Congratulations Shana!

You are a very special gift to us, a daughter with character and spirit of all your own. We are filled with pride and delight by all you have accomplished. Our greatest wish for you is the satisfaction that comes from achieving your goals and the contentment that is born of simple things - work well done, friends well loved, and moments captured and cherished. We love you with all of our hearts!

Where had time come and went? We really admired how much you had accomplished during all your years at MSD - how you have managed to maintain a high quality academic level while participating in many different activities such as sports, Academic Bowl, etc. We would have climbed up to top mountain and shout to the whole world to hear and see what you had achieved but knowing you being so humble, we decide to shout from our HEARTS instead.

We know you will excel wherever you go after closing the chapter at MSD. We are EXTREMELY proud of you!!!!!!!

Jes-

You are the only big sister I have and will always be the only one...I love you so much!!!! Honestly time has gone TOO fast!!! Do you remember that day I first existed in your life? I am glad I existed in your life because I couldn't ask for a better sister, you are the best there will ever be in the world.

You might be graduating from High School, but you are definitely not graduating from the Frank Family.

I honestly could keep on talking and talking about you and you being the best sister that could last a hundred pages long or even more.

am going to miss you in school, you will not able to drive me to school anymore since ou are going to college. GOOD LUCK!

Love you very much!!!!

xoxoxoxo your little sister- Brittany

Hey big sis,

Congrats on getting through high school. I still have more than 6 years left!! Next fall you'll be in college and I'll just be at home in 7th grade:_(. We'll all miss you when you're off at college.

Love,

Jarrod

P.S. Can I have your room? (don't tell Brittany I asked)

Leah Beth Katz-Hernandez,

Congratulations on your graduation!
We are so proud of you and all that you have accomplished from your first days at preschool in Connecticut to your final days here at the MSD. You can never know all the people you have touched and influenced in these 17 years of your life. But we know that as you succeed in life you will always look back in appreciation for the good educational foundation you got here, and the experiences you gained.

Now you start the next big adventure - life. No matter where you go and what you do, we will always be proud of you.
We love you.

Love,

Mom, Daddy, Daniel, and London & Paris

Leah,

Congratulations on your graduation from MSD.

We are so proud of and wish you good luck in your future college education.

We love you,
Papa and Grammy

Dearest Joshua,

Whoa! Time flew so fast just like the Enterprise or the Voyager!

We are very proud of what you achieved at MSD! We are also proud of your continuous quest for new adventures and tools: Sesame Street, Captain Planet, Batman, Power Rangers, Star Trek: Voyager, Alias, other TV shows and movies, zillions of pagers (grand opening of the exhibit coming soon!), zillions of books from bookstores and libraries, soccer, basketball, volleyball, knee surgery (with mom recuperating from hers, too), movie rentals from Blockbuster, Hollywood Video, Netflix and back to Blockbuster, drama (BAPA, Miss & Mister Little Personality, Romeo and Juliet, Freckle Juice, etc.), Camp Mark 7, YLC, Java and Jolie, Academic Bowl competitions, friends, friends, friends, driving and getting the license to drive, traveling solo...

Kudos on completing your quest at MSD! Mazel Tov on your new quest out of Frederick, Maryland! We know you will never fly out of our hearts and minds! We love you,

Mommy + Daddy
(and kisses from Java & Jolie)
GO BOLDLY!

Joshy Woshy

It seems like only yesterday we were dressing up as Power Rangers with all our might and glory and with the blink of an eye you are leaving for college. Even though we bicker, I will miss you and the bickering, too. I would rather share the TV with you than be all alone. When you write your first novel or win your first Oscar, don't forget to mention your favorite sister in the whole wide world. I love you and visit every now and then.

~ XOXO ~

Our Dear Son, Congratulations on this significant milestone as you journey into college and throughout life. As Kobi Yamada once said "Sometimes you just have to take the leap and build your wings on the way down." Your mother and father love you enough to set you free like a butterfly to try your own wings with this quote to guide you ... "The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy" by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. We trust that you will continue to soar higher with the values of Love, Honesty, and Respect for yourself and everyone around you. Good Luck, Son!

We love you so very much,

A Mall of Fame

Commissioned by George Washington, the National Mall was designed by French engineer and architect, Pierre L'Enfant, in 1791. Since its creation, it has always been a favorite place for people to exercise their democratic rights, and reflect on our great leaders and history.

A. The National Mall stretches two and a half miles from the Potomac River to the United States Capitol.

B. The Mall is planted with 2,000 American elms and 3,000 flowering Japanese cherry trees.

C. Stroll down the mall and you'll see the Lincoln Memorial, the Washington Monument, the Jefferson Memorial, the Smithsonian and other museums.

A Tail of Three Comets

Three special comets streaked through the summer sky in 2004. On its own, this fact isn't terribly earth shaking—the appearance of comets in the night sky is not unusual. What was unique about this trio is that all three of these particular comets could be seen with the naked eye. Since naked-eye comets usually pass Earth only once every five years or so, to see three in the span of a few weeks is a rare sight indeed. ▶

A Diamond in the Rough

Preliminary tests in Montana have yielded the discovery of a microscopic diamond. And while this isn't the first diamond discovered here (a 14-carat diamond was found in 1990), it's thought that this new diamond was actually created in Montana, instead of being left behind by a retreating glacier or other means. This opens up the possibility that more diamonds are waiting to be found! ◀

The Big Blue Sea

A blue whale, the largest mammal ever to have lived on Earth, was spotted in Alaskan waters, giving hope that the endangered species may be getting healthier and returning to traditional territories. Although they've been protected since 1965, recent estimates show that only about 12,000 of these highly intelligent creatures exist worldwide. ▶

Prehistoric Pussycat

In ancient Egypt cats were worshiped as gods. Now scientists think that they have discovered the world's oldest known pet cat on the island of Cyprus. Found near human remains in a 9,500-year-old grave, the ancient kitty predates the Pyramids by about 4,000 years! ◀

Apple unveiled a brand new iPod that, in addition to holding up to 15,000 songs, can also hold up to 25,000 digital photos for display on a screen with over 65,000 colors. ▶

Good-Bye Superman

Christopher Reeve, movie superhero and real-life hero for spinal cord research, died at the age of 52. A tireless activist for the disabled, Reeve was paralyzed in 1995 after an equestrian accident. ▲

Livestrong for Charity

Lance Armstrong wears one. So did John Kerry, George W. Bush and over three million other people. Costing just $1 (with the money donated to help cancer survivors), plain yellow rubber bands featuring the words "Livestrong" became must-have fashion items that motivated charitable organizations nationwide to create their own versions, made with various colors, materials and messages. ▲

Old is New in Fashion

Featuring traditional apparel your grandma and grandpa might have worn, haute couture became a bit old fashioned as broaches, tweed and fur filled trendy boutiques in 2004. ◀

Youth Votes for Democracy

Following celebrity incitation to "Rock the Vote" and "Vote or Die," 21 million voters under the age of 30 cast their ballots in the 2004 Presidential election. This figure is up 4.6 million from the 2000 election. According to national exit polls, young people chose the Kerry-Edwards ticket over Bush-Cheney by 54 percent to 44 percent. ◀

Keeping a Poker Face

With the popularity of television shows such as the Bravo channel's Celebrity Poker, the Travel channel's World Poker Tour and ESPN's coverage of the World Series of Poker, card playing became one of the most popular activities among college, high school and even grade school students. ▲

Berry, Berry Nice!

The new BlackBerry models feature mobile phone-like design, an innovative QWERTY keyboard, and the ability to automatically receive, process and send e-mails from up to 10 private e-mail addresses with push technology that allows the user to bypass time-consuming log-on procedures to access e-mail. Other functions include a calendar, address book, tools for creating and managing notes and to-do lists, plus Web and WAP browsers and direct Internet access by means of true modem functionality. Phew! ▶

The Real Thing Goes Low Carb

In an attempt to cash in on the low-carb, low-calorie craze, Coca-Cola launched Coca-Cola C2. Promising all the taste of regular Coke, C2 has half the sugar, half the calories and half the carbohydrates of regular Coke. To stay competitive, Pepsi launched its own mid-carb soda, Pepsi EDGE. ◀

iMac Makes its Big Screen Debut

In the tradition of thinking outside the box, the new 1.8-GHz Apple iMac G5 features a computer built entirely into a 2-inch thick monitor that stands on a curved, brushed-aluminum base. ▲
